

Jigsaw Pizza Fish Glue $1.99

Rejected by identity'

that is me

Acquired fathers MJ, Beuys and Warhol

they painted my soul

Like shooting fireworks pop, pop, pop the creative disruptive contradictions I could not stop

Tormenting me like icy Bangladeshi snowflakes drowning me in a thousand lakes,

Lakes of color

sex

religion

hate

love

prejudice

and art

I can only ask why, why, why what snowflake am I?

But I was drowned and drugged up institutionalized, paralyzed with pills and Seven-up.

They said: "No pizza for me!"

the glue dissolved, why couldn't they let me be?

by Soren Rokx-Nellemann (tribute to artist Shah Jahan), April 20, 2018.

In addition to this poem, Soren also produced two works of art in response to Shah Jahan, please see jpps, and selected a song by Jackson 5 titled 'Can You Feel It', please see this link to video.
